

Goethe Host Family Opportunity

Five Reasons to Host an Amity Intern

1. Allow your family to develop a meaningful relationship with someone from another culture. Interns will interact with your family, friends and neighbors, creating international friendship and cultural understanding on a local level. Your memories will last a lifetime!
2. Learn about another country and culture through food, music and personal interaction with your Amity Intern.
3. Create an unforgettable experience for your Amity Intern. Opening your home and welcoming an Intern into your family allows him or her to see the best that US culture has to offer.
4. Support our school GICS. Help our school create a rich, engaging foreign language program. By volunteering your home, you are allowing many students to benefit from having an Amity Intern.
5. Learn about yourself and your culture. See the US through the eyes of an international visitor and create an invaluable educational experience for yourself and your family.

Become a Host Family Open Your Home to an Amity Intern

Hosting an Amity Intern opens your heart and home to an incredible once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to develop a meaningful relationship with an international visitor.

What does it entail?

Host Families provide room and board to their international visitor. The Intern must have a private bedroom and be provided with all meals except lunch on school days.

Families must host their Interns for a minimum of nine weeks or one quarter preferably twelve weeks. Longer stays are available schedule permitting.

Who is Amity?

Amity Institute is a nonprofit organization that works to build international friendship and cultural understanding through teaching exchange. For over forty years, Amity has brought Interns to the US to share their knowledge and culture.

Amity has a careful screening process that enables us to select friendly, open-minded individuals who are excited to come to the US and share language and culture.

Amity has trained Program Counselors on staff to assist Intern and Host Families with any questions or issues they may have.
